I. Rationale

Ta'allum's Guiding Principles for purchasing and facilitating access to the Optimus Online CPD Portal are inextricably linked to research based evidence and Ta'allum's commitment to the professional development of staff (as outlined in the Ta'allum CPD Policy).

The report Understanding What Enables High Quality Professional Learning: A Report on the Research Evidence¹ produced by the Centre for the Use of Research and Evidence in Education (CUREE) and Pearson School Improvement draws on published research that addresses the question: 'What are the characteristics of high quality professional learning for practitioners in education?'

The focus of this report was specifically on professional learning that leads to benefits for students.

The report states that CPD is most likely to benefit students if it is:

- collaborative
- supported by specialist expertise
- focused on aspirations for students
- sustained over time
- exploring evidence from trying new things.

Draw on effective approaches

The report goes on to explain that the approaches most closely linked to effectiveness in CPD include:

- collaborative enquiry
- coaching and mentoring
- networks
- structured dialogue
- group work.

In addition, the report shows that the professional learning experiences of teachers that were most likely to improve student outcomes included:

- learning to learn from observing teaching and learning exchanges
- immersion in exploration of students' learning and teachers' contributions to it
- active engagement with the learning through collaborative problem-solving and role play, practising, planning, experimenting, adapting, reviewing and debriefing
- the synthesis of relatively generalised, context-free theories and concepts with the specifics of the teacher's working context
- the development of practical theories or rationales
- the need for support, often via a mix of specialist and collaborative coaching.

'Ta'allum Academies recognises that Professional Development is critical to the achievement of the organization's mission and vision. It is also equally important to the continuous improvement of student learning and quality of teaching. For staff, quality Professional Development is integral to personal job satisfaction, workplace productivity, rewards, and recognition.

Commitment to Professional Development

Ta'allum's commitment to Professional Development is in keeping with one of the tenants in the Supreme Education Councils Professional Standards for Teachers (2007) whereby it states that teachers should reflect upon their own practices and identify areas for improvement.

Impact on practice in the classroom

It is incumbent on all teachers in particular to ensure that such professional training affects their practice within the classroom or elsewhere. At best, new knowledge should be "transferable." While employee academic excellence is to be praised, it is far more meaningful to ensure that this knowledge will help to raise standards throughout the Academy

Ta'allum is committed to providing staff with:

- The opportunity to plan and develop skills, knowledge and attributes that complement organizational and work unit goals
- The opportunity to participate in career development activities that extend and enhance staff capabilities and capacity for advancement within the organisation
- Equity of access to Professional Development opportunities. '
